

HIPAA Notice of Privacy Practices

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) includes rules that health care providers must follow regarding personal medical record information. These new rules were designed by the U.S. Government to help you to understand how your medical record information can be used. These U.S. Government rules apply to every health care provider that transmits health information electronically.

- Protected Health Information (PHI) means any information, including demographics, whether oral, electronic, or paper, which is created or received by a health care provider and relates to your health care or payment for the provision of health care. This includes the results of your tests, and notes written by providers, as well as your name, address, and telephone number.

This notice describes how medical record information about you may be used and disclosed and how you can get access to your protected health information.

How Vantage Plastic Surgery Handles Your Medical Record Information

"Use" is the sharing of PHI among the employees of Vantage Plastic Surgery, (consisting of physicians and medical assistants) who work together for your good health. All of your information is stored in a secured electronic medical record. Everyone who works at Vantage Plastic Surgery is required to protect your medical record information. Health care professionals access your medical record information only when necessary, such as for treatment, payment, or health care operations.

Vantage Plastic Surgery as required by state and federal laws, keeps all PHI secured, encrypted, and confidential. Vantage Plastic Surgery is required by law and will provide you with this Notice explaining the legal duties and privacy practices relating to your PHI.
